A POSTORIAL

The United States Government, and that means all of us, have dedicated ourselves to an all out Victory as soon as possible over the Axis Powers. Naturally this is going to mean sacrifices for all of us, and tears for many. It is going to mean more work, and blood, and sweat, and toil before we can feel that we have safeguarded this entire world for freedom and liberty, the inalienable right of all mankind. Even though we may not all serve in our Country's Armed Forces, we can serve by buying Defense Bonds and Defense Stamps. I urge every one of you to purchase as much as possible.

In connection with this, one of the finest and most patriotic Poster Stamp campaigns is being released in January by the Jewel Food Stores of Chicago. This series was conceived, created and produced by Mr. Roscoe L. Parkinson, 211 West Wacker Drive, Chicago. Mr. Parkinson has done a noteworthy service to his country because this Poster Stamp campaign is tied up with Defense Stamps.

This series of Poster Stamps consists of 30 pictures of 30 heroic Americans whom all of us know and have read about in the History of our glorious America. An album folder is also available for these Poster Stamps, and "thumb nail" paragraphs are included in this album, giving a short history of each of the heroic Americans in the series. Bound in the center of the book is one of the United States Government's Defense Stamp folders.

Jewel Food Stores are distributing the entire set of Poster Stamps, together with the album and a Defense Stamp button to anyone who will come to one of their stores in the Chicagoland area and purchase a 10¢ Defense Stamp from them. This means that the entire series, folder and album can be obtained for a contribution of 10¢ in the way of a Defense Stamp to the Government.

Collectors of Poster Stamps who do not live in the Chicago area cannot obtain these Poster Stamps unless they have one of their fellow collectors or friends who live in the Chicagoland area, obtain a set for them.

A WORD OF WARNING IN RE MOUNTING POSTERS

By W. L. Kinhead
56 Park Ave.
Glen Rock, New Jersey

The mounting of postage stamps is generally on the right hand pages of most albums, but doing this with the larger posters I found was disastrous as the posters unless attached to page top and bottom, were apt to turn over and thus crease in the handling of the album. So I mount them on the left side and the posters lie flat and thus escape damage. This may seem a trifle awkward at first, but it will soon come naturally to thus mount them.

I have also found the Junior Edition International poster stamp album or similar albums of size and bindings, the best for my handling. My postage stamps are housed in Scott "Ne Plus Ultra" albums and the Junior International approximates their size, so my shelves take on the same look. Further, the smaller album is easy to handle, not so cumbersome as the slightly larger Scott album. In addition I find the nicely printed blue margined sheets make nice division Headings for the numerous classifications of my poster collection.

HERE ARE A FEW NOTES ON OLD AND NEW

by Shirley Moir, Willowdale, Ont., Can.

The newest is a delightful set of 12. They are very colorful in the patriotic red, white and blue. Each stamp depicts a different historical character of the British Empire along with his or her most famous saying. The theme "TO US THE TORCH IS THROWN" is on every stamp. These are put out by a large automobile manufacturing company.

The runner up is a beautiful series of 4 sets--10 each, exquisitely done from Kodachrome natural color photos of "Scenic Manitoba".

The "See Canada" set issued this summer by the Imperial Oil Ltd in their colors, which also happen to be red, white and blue, are attractive in that they display the beauty of our wonderful country.

This same company issued one stamp last Xmas in the traditional colors with a winter and summer scene. It is worded "Come to Canada" Merry Xmas. Incidentally, in the foreground of the summer scene is one of our famous "Royal Mounties".

Then appears a set of 5 Victory posters imperforate and perforated. Again in red white and blue with inscriptions such as "Can't you see? You must buy Victory Bonds." These were issued by the Ontario Government for the victory loan campaign in June.

Again the Imperial Oil comes to the fore with "Animals of Canada"; a set of 20 animals, this time in blue and white with a border of maple leaves.

There are a number of other sets many of which you are familiar with, nevertheless, I will mention some of them. "Know Canada" set of 48 in assorted colors issued by Maple Leaf Milling Co.

Board of Trade of New Brunswick (St. John) have a set of 12, inviting tourists to visit their fair province.

"Visit Toronto" is another set of assorted colors and a border of leaves of maple, 25 to a set.

The Stovel Co. Ltd. at the time of the Royal Visit published a set of 9; included in this set are photos of our beloved Sovereigns and their charming daughters the Princesses.

The World's largest annual fair is held in Toronto every year. The Canadian National Exhibition as it is called have two sets and several odds to their credit. The sets, one of 42 and the other 4 (commemorating the philatelic convention held here) are both for the year 1937. The singles were issued in '29 and '41..... both very colorful. The Golden Jubilee of Vancouver was celebrated in 1936 with a set of 56 pictures of that fair city.

The only set I know of that was issued by the Canadian Pacific Railway is "Travel by C.P.R." to Orient, Europe, etc. ---- this of course was released sometime before the war.

The Chinese Community of Toronto issued a set pertaining to China in 1937. As it was printed in Canada we call it a Canadian set. The earlier T.B. seals both French and English Canadian are now very scarce. However this year's are plentiful. Little New Year is seen welding a good-luck horse shoe on an anvil. It has the usual Seasons Greetings.

This brings us to the patriotics which include fund stamps. I have over the 100 which makes it too numerous to mention each one individually. They range in size from scarcely larger than a pin head to 1 1/4 mm.x11 mm. and make a very beautiful collection in themselves. However I will mention one or two which I think outstanding.

The Norwegian Relief Fund of Canada issued a stamp in shades of orange. On a maple leaf is the Norwegian crest which is a lion.

Churchill is depicted on one with the Union Jack and wording "There'll Always Be an England" and "Carry On".

Also on a round stamp is Uncle Sam and John Bull marching along together holding high a banner with the inscription "Between Us We Can Do the Job". This is in black and yellow.

If further information is desired on any of these I will endeavor to supply it.
